COURSE DESCRIPTION

Urban areas vary in their form, structure, morphology, land use patterns, and historical processes of evolution. But they are also driven by a series of interrelated processes of change—including economic, political, cultural, demographic, technological, environmental, social, and locally-contingent forces. These forces operate at a variety of geographical scales ranging from the global to the local. The goal of this course is to understand the processes and the character of urban areas. In doing so, students will be exposed to: 1) the factors that gave rise to early cities; 2) models and theories that exist to explain urban growth; 3) the various distinct structures and forms of urban areas; 4) urban development processes and forces driving these processes; 5) government policies and urban management strategies; and 6) various issues present in our cities today. The course will be delivered in various formats: formal lectures, in-class and tutorial discussions, guest lectures, and videos. By the end of the course students should be able to apply various constructs to real world urban issues.

COURSE PREREQUISITES: 1.0 course from GEOG 1100, 1300, 1400, 1500, 2131, 2153; the former GEOG 020E; ECON 1020; ECON 1021/1022; or enrollment in any of the Global Development Studies or Globalization Studies modules. Unless you have either the requisites for this course or written special permission from your Dean to enroll in it, you may be removed from this course and it will be deleted from your record. This decision may not be appealed. You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

After completing the activities associated with the course, students should:

1. Be familiar with concepts and theories and how they help us understand urban development
2. Have a clear understanding of the characteristics of urban areas and spatial relationships between various urban regions
3. Have a clear knowledge of urban processes and the forces (e.g. geographical, economic, social) that influence urban development
4. Have a good knowledge on urbanization trends and associated problems
5. Be able to conduct a financial feasibility analysis on a development using a return on investment model OR be familiar with planning conflict issues in specific urban locality

READINGS

There is one assigned text for this course from which readings will be regularly drawn:

1. Paul Knox and Linda McCarthy (2005). Urbanization: an introduction to urban geography. 3rd Edition. Pearson: Upper Saddle River, New Jersey.

Additionally, there are two non-compulsory texts from which supplementary readings will be drawn:

2. David Kaplan, James Wheeler, and Steven Holloway (2009). Urban Geography. 2nd Edition. Wiley: John Wiley & Sons, Inc.
3. Trudi Bunting, Pierre Filion, and Ryan Walker (2011). Canadian Cities in Transition. Oxford University Press.

Several sections of these books will be used throughout the course. Other reading materials (e.g. articles, reports) will also be made available on the course website.

EVALUATION METHODS

There is one MAJOR assignment in this course, divided into three components with separate due dates. We will also have a mid-term and final examination. Both the mid-term and final examination will assess the knowledge gained from all lectures and assigned reading materials. The exams will be a combination of multiple choice questions, fill in the blanks, and short answer questions. No electronic devices will be allowed during an examination. Study guides will be distributed prior to the exam to help you focus on specific areas of study. The breakdown of marks is as follows:

Make assignment choice on time:	2%
First component of major assignment:	6%
Second component of major assignment:	7%
Final Major Project:	25%
Mid-Term Examination:	25%
Final Examination:	25%
Attendance and Participation:	10%

POLICY STATEMENTS

Attendance at lectures and tutorials will be used to calculate the participation mark, and will have a strong bearing on success in the class overall. Students are expected to attend all lectures and tutorials and are strongly encouraged to read assigned readings before coming to these classes. The teaching assistants will keep track of attendance at all tutorials and guest lectures.

NOTE 1: Unless permission is granted, students cannot be absent from guest lectures. Failure to attend guest lectures will attract a heavy penalty, mostly likely a score of '0' for the class participation mark. Our guest speakers give up time from their day jobs to be with us, so I expect everyone's attendance.

NOTE 2: Late assignments will incur a 5% per day penalty. Assignments will not be accepted if handed in more than 10 days after the due date.

NOTE 3: E-mails directed to my e-mail address MUST include the phrase "GEOG 2460". This is how I can make sure to see the e-mail, and thus promptly and efficiently respond to your concerns.

ON STUDENT LEARNING

My approach to teaching includes a deep respect for the learning environment, and requires that all students show regard for one another and for the instructor and TAs. I pledge to give you a well-prepared lecture each week, keep the class expectations clear and fair, and be available for any issues you may encounter. In return, here are some expectations that I hope you will consider: exit the room quietly if you need to make a phone call or use the washroom, enter the room quietly and quickly find a seat if you are late, make an effort to participate during lectures, introduce yourself to some of your classmates, and be willing to participate in small-group discussions.

If you make use of a laptop during the lecture period, I encourage you to Google concepts and cities (especially with Google Streetview) to enhance your learning experience. I have found this method can help spark discussion questions and make the experience more enjoyable overall. I've also found that I pay better attention if I am doing that as opposed to just checking my Facebook. ☺

COURSE WEB PAGE (OWL)

During the term, information pertaining to lecture, examination, assignments and other course-related matters will be posted on the course website. Please note that copies of my lecture notes will appear on the website on the evening prior to lecture. Please remember that these are meant to serve as templates, and are no substitute for attendance, well-taken notes, and active participation in class discussions.
